Dear Valued Customers

Nidec Components Corporation
Sensor Division

Notification of discontinuation of printed instruction manuals

As part of our environmental initiatives and efforts to reduce paper usage, we have decided to discontinue the inclusion of printed instruction manuals in product packaging. Moving forward, users will be asked to download the relevant instruction manuals by selecting their product model from the instruction manual list available on our website. A guidance card containing the URL and QR code for the instruction manual list will be included with the product instead. We appreciate your understanding and cooperation regarding this change.

1. Change overview

The printed instruction manuals previously included in product packaging will be discontinued. Instead, a guidance card with the URL and QR code for the instruction manual list on our website will be included

2. About the guidance card

Paper size : Business card size (91 × 55 mm)

Printed Content :

Note : While the printed content will remain unchanged, the layout may be slightly adjusted during card production.

3. Affected products and implemented schedule

WL10 series : From December, 2025 onward on a production basis

All other pressure sensor models : Gradual transition starting from December 2025.

Note : Details regarding applicable models and timing for pressure sensors will be provided as they become available.
